From a parent

“My child has never had any real education”

Solutions

- Identify students with high support needs who are being sent home
- Have multiple EAs trained to properly support each of these students
- Only have “back-up” EAs placed with students who are flexible in terms of having a different EA
- When staff absence occurs only deploy a trained familiar replacement

Solutions

- Provide training to admin/leadership about inclusive supports and de-escalation techniques
- Have BCBAs or someone qualified to perform a Functional Behavior Analysis on staff at schools
- Staff other specialists, like SLPs, OTs, psychologists, counsellors to provide required supports
- Maintain a high qualification standard for LSTs, Resource Teachers, ISTs etc

Solutions

- Hire EAs as career professionals - salaried, full time work with prep time
- Have Province-wide EA standards
- Increase teacher training, prep time and mentorship for new teachers and teachers learning new skills
- Respect the role of relationships and familiarity. Continuity of staff and “best fit” of staff who are working with these kids will be key to ensuring a safe learning environment for all.
